“Go All In” Campaign

 Go All In is a new national initiative from the National Literacy Trust and DfE, encouraging everyone to “If you’re into it, read into it.”

The campaign aims to reignite reading for pleasure, making it relevant and enjoyable beyond the classroom, aligning closely with our literacy priorities in LBBD.

It supports BDSIP’s work by offering national visibility, upcoming resources, challenges, and webinars, and opportunities to collaborate with schools, libraries, and families.

Further campaign materials will be shared throughout 2026.

DFE: A National Conversation on the Future of SEND

Teacher Bulletin - 14 January 2026

From Thank you to everyone who has contributed to the national conversation on SEND reform through the online portal and regional events. Your views are shaping proposals for long-term change, and Ministers continue to meet with parents, educators, leaders and experts. The government has set out an ambitious vision to ensure every child with SEND can achieve and thrive, recognising that too many children currently struggle to access the support they need.

Five principles guiding reform:

-  Early support
-  Local provision
-  Fair access
-  Effective, evidence-based practice
-  Shared working across education, health and care

What happens next:

- Continued ministerial engagement with the sector
- A formal consultation on proposed reforms to follow shortly
